The screenshot shows the Openfiler web interface. The top navigation bar includes 'Status', 'System', 'Volumes', 'Cluster', 'Quota', 'Shares', 'Services', and 'Accounts'. The 'Volumes' section is active, and the 'iSCSI Targets' sub-section is selected. The main content area displays 'CHAP Authentication Settings for target "iqn.2006-01.com.openfiler:tsn.19ef662cc1f1"'. Below this, there is a table with columns for 'User Type', 'Username', 'Password', 'Update', and 'Delete'. The table contains two rows: 'Incoming User' and 'Outgoing User', both with 'santosh' as the username and password. Below the table, there is a form to 'Add CHAP user to target "iqn.2006-01.com.openfiler:tsn.19ef662cc1f1"'. The form has fields for 'Username', 'Password', and 'User Type' (with a dropdown menu set to 'Incoming User'), and an 'Add' button. A sidebar on the right contains 'Volumes section' with links like 'Manage Volumes', 'Volume Groups', 'Block Devices', 'Add Volume', 'iSCSI Targets', and 'Software RAID'. Below that is 'Support resources' with links for 'Report bug', 'Get support', 'Forums', and 'Admin Guide'. The footer of the page says 'mytricks.in'.
